Allies Launch Limited Attack North Of Newly Captured Power Dam, Reservoir In North Korea

TOKYO, April 19 (AP)—Allied troops today launched a limited attack north of the newly captured Hwachon power dam and reservoir on the east-central front in North Korea.

The Allies seized the big hydroelectric grid Wednesday after Reds who had defended it stubbornly for days slipped away to the north.

Thousands of Allied doughboys poured into the dam and reservoir area. United Nations riflemen struck north from Hwachon at the west end of the reservoir. They traded fire with an enemy group of undisclosed strength but later withdrew.

Chinese Reds pulled back all along the central front in the mountainous area west of the reservoir.

Patrols Unmolested

Rain, smoke and haze made air observation impossible. But United Nations troops patrolled aggressively far ahead of their lines in those craggy heights without opposition.

Heavy rain slowed the Allied push on the western front.

Chinese mounted a daylight, company-sized counterattack 10 miles inside Red Korea north of Yonchon.

Allied artillery and a late afternoon air strike threw back the attack.

U.N. forces inched forward up the last hillcrest before Chorwon, 17 air miles north of the border. Other Allied troops neared Chigyong, southeast of Chorwon and 16 air miles inside the Redland.

Behind front lines, American engineers and Korean road crews were working day and night to weather proof roads against the heavy rains soon due.

18 Floodgates Open

There was no official explanation for the sudden Red pullback that permitted the Allies to take over the Hwachon dam and reservoir.

Eight of the dam's 18 floodgates were still open. The dam is 880 feet long and 250 feet high. It backs up water for 11 miles and once was a major source of power for Seoul.

Allied troops seized Hwachon at the western end of the reservoir Wednesday without a fight.

The slow, deliberate U.N. drive appeared to be nearing the line between Chorwon and Kumhwa, 14 miles northeast. Behind it, the Reds were believed to have massed 600,000 men for an expected spring drive.

A U.S. Eighth Army communiqué Wednesday indicated the Allies were having trouble finding the Reds at most places. It said Allied patrols in central Korea were trying "to fix the position of an elusive enemy."

445 Red Casualties

Red casualties Wednesday totaled only 445, about half the usual daily score, indicating little action.

A South Korean force on the east coast moved 28 miles north of the Red border before it met Red opposition.

Two air alerts were sounded along the front Thursday. A blackout was enforced Wednesday-Thursday night for the first time in the war. An unidentified plane flew over the front but there was no report of any bombing.

Allied Navy carrier planes blasted Hamburg on the east coast Wednesday. A navy announcement said the port now is "useless to the enemy for military purposes in the immediate future."

Peach Blossoms Are Expected Soon

Adams county peach trees should begin to show blossoms the early part of next week, weather permitting, orchardists said today.

A number of trees are beginning to show pink. Most, however, are not quite at the pink stage. But the growers expect that by the early part of next week a lot of trees will be showing blossoms and a few days later most of them should be in the blossom stage.

The apple blossoms, which make a better display because there are more of them, and more appear at approximately the same time, are due in about three weeks, again dependent upon the weather.

Cold weather the past few nights did not harm the peach crop because the trees are not believed to have gotten to the point where cold will have great effect, orchardists said.

STUDENT GIVES $500 BAIL FOR SENTENCE COURT

William E. Madden, Jr., 19, of Cedar Grove, N. J., a student at Mount St. Mary's college arrested Saturday night on a charge of driving an automobile after his license had been suspended, signed a plea of guilty before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Wednesday afternoon, and was held for sentence court on April 28. He was released in $500 bail.

An automobile operated by Madden was involved in an accident on the Lincoln highway 12 miles west of Gettysburg at 9:05 o'clock Saturday night. Madden's car and one driven by Henry Hund, 23, of Hawesville, Pa., were traveling west. Madden swerved to the left to avoid a disabled car which was being pushed, and Hund drove to the right.

One Is Injured

Authorities said the Madden car drove the disabled automobile, owned by Junior D. Damage to the wall and trees was estimated at $25. Damage to the Madden car was placed at $650; to the Freeman car at $300 and to the Hund car at $30.

CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS ESCORT MAC TO CAPITAL

Washington, April 19 (P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur left the Hotel Statler at 11:59 a.m. (EST) today to address a joint meeting of Congress.

The five star general, fired from his job last week as supreme commander in the Pacific, was accompanied by his diminutive wife, their 13 year old son, members of MacArthur's staff, and a congressional delegation.

The MacArthurs drove to Capitol Hill in a 1938 black open Cadillac.

Crowds In Lobby

Crowds in the hotel lobby that had awaited the general's appearance for nearly an hour applauded and cheered as MacArthur and his family stepped from an elevator and went to the motor ramp.

MacArthur smiled and waved his hand.

Shortly before the general left his hotel suite, Republican House leader Martin (R-Mass.), Senate Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska, and Democratic leader MacFarland of Arizona arrived to escort him to the House chamber.

Among the first to leave the elevator, several minutes before MacArthur and his group appeared, was Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor who served with MacArthur in the Philippines.

The crowd gave Wainwright an ovation.

15-Car Caravan

A 15 car caravan accompanied the general. The skies were overcast but a light drizzle had stopped.

Riding in the first car were MacArthur, Rep. Martin and Senators Wherry and MacFarland.

Mrs. MacArthur and her son, Arthur, MacArthur and son, Arthur, rode in the second car.

MacArthur gave his speech a final polishing before setting out for the capital.

Arriving there, the general entered through the south door on the House side customarily used by the President.

Striding up the short flight of steps through a military guard standing at attention, MacArthur was greeted by cheers from a small crowd packed behind a barrier in the lower hallway.

The House had convened promptly at noon and then recessed after a prayer by its chaplain, the Rev. Bernard Brasckamp, for the joint meeting.

The galleries were well filled, and most of the seats on the House floor, except those reserved for Senators and other visitors, were occupied.

The Senate, after a 10 minute session starting at noon, recessed until 2 p.m., when members planned to return for a session of tribute to the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg.

Vandenberg died at his home in Grand Rapids, Mich., last night.

On the House side MacArthur acknowledged the crowd's cheer with a salute, and strode briskly to the speaker's private office to await the time for his speech.

FARM BUREAU

ing will be a vote on a change in the by-laws of the county group to increase the number of members of the board of directors from seven to 11.

First function of the board of directors, it was announced, has been to take action to help secure farm deformers for young men who otherwise would be called into service, but who are needed on the farms.

The board asked that members "feel free to express your ideas" at Monday's meeting. The board, it was stated, "feels that it can do many things for farmers in the county, but it needs to know just what the farmers want. For that reason we hope that all who attend Monday's session will be prepared to express their ideas of needs of the farmers and have suggestions of activities we can carry out."

Notice of the meeting was sent out by Melvin S. Worley, secretary-treasurer of the county organization.

Suspend License Of Local VFW Post

BULLETS DROP SLOPPY GAME TO DUTCHMEN

In a game marked by ragged defensive work on the part of both teams, the Gettysburg college baseball team dropped its third game in four outings to Lebanon Valley college 8-4 here Wednesday afternoon.

A total of 10 miscues were committed by the teams during the long contest and several other blunders took place.

Ron Fitzkee, a surprise starter for the Bullets, was the victim of three unearned runs in the third frame on two infield boos, a pair of passed balls, a walk and a single by Wise. Again in the third a pair of errors gave the Dutchmen another tally. Lebanon Valley's lone earned run was on a homerun to center by Tarantola in the fourth.

After Lebanon Valley had built up a 7-0 lead in five and one-half innings, the Bullets pushed over a pair of tallies in the sixth on an infield hit by Fitzkee, a walk to Owings, another infield hit by Keller and an error.

Another run came in the seventh on a single by Bixby and double by Keller's single, a walk to Hare and wild pitch produced the final Bullet run in the eighth.

Bill Frazier, who fanned 11 in eight and one-third frames, was relieved by Al Murawski in the ninth and the latter struck out two more Plankmen.

Gettysburg faces a tough two-game road assignment this weekend, playing at Pittsburgh on Friday and Penn State on Saturday.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TALK ON BEES IS FEATURE OF CLUB MEETING

Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Littlestown joint school system, addressed the members and guests of the Women's Community club of Littlestown and vicinity on the subject "Apiculture Culture," at the April meeting Wednesday evening in the POS of A hall. Mr. King's information concerning the bees was learned from practical experience with them, as one of his hobbies. The Italian bee, which is used for domestication and for the processing of honey, was the subject of his discussion.

Mr. King told the history of the queen bee, the drones and the workers which constitute a bee colony. His talk revealed that the life span of a worker bee is only ten or 12 days, because he works from sun up to sun down; a bee will not fly when the temperature is under fifty degrees and always they will return to the hive when there are signs of rain. The principal importance of the bee is in cross pollination and without it there would be no flowers or no pollen.

Those of us who once knew life upon the farm have a whole cluster of memory sounds. The cackle of the hens, the grunts of the pigs, the baa, baa of the sheep, the moo, hoo of the cows, and the neighing of the horses in their stalls. These domestic sounds of natural life, all melting into those of the countryside, the wild birds, the wind and the rain, stay by us. If these memory sounds were to be forever blotted from us how great would be our mental loss.

Thoreau gave tribute in his famous book "Walden" to the many sounds that reached his ear and comforted him, one of which was the whistle of the train that passed daily within hearing of Walden Pond. All through Burton's remarkable poem "The Kasidah," there is that following line—"the tinkling of the camel bell." And in Gray's Elegy, after that first line, "The curfew tolls the knell of parting day," you almost feel the shadows, and hear the echo of the ploughman's feet as he "homeward plods his weary way."

The most sacred of all sounds however, are the remembered voices of those whom we have loved and lost. Never do they leave us, thanks to this wonderful memory of ours, for they remain to comfort, to reassure, and to inspire us to carry on with faith and courage.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

UNANSWERED PLEAS
If every prayer were answered and granted every plea,
Our cares would not be lightened;
no happier should we be.
For should I ask for sunshine, my neighbor hope for rain,
Though one of us was thankful, the other would complain.

How wisely things are ordered, with much we cannot know!
Into the future bravely we all are asked to go.

For joys that are denied us, the rea-son's never plain.

The loss at which we grumble may prove tomorrow's gain.

What's best is seldom certain. What
God has willed and planned
Not always at the moment can mortals understand.
But this I must remember: were
God to favor me,
What served my selfish purpose my neighbor's hurt might be.

SOUNDS

Tucked away in our memory are scores of sounds that somehow keep echoing, bringing back to us vividly the days that first recorded them for us. The sound of the church bells on the Sabbath, the cow-bell in the meadow, the bell call to school, the noon whistle, the toot, toot of the mail train, and the clang, clang of the fire engine. All so familiar to us, keeping forever green the memories of youth and the interests of later years.

I am not an expert on the detection of bird calls, but many of them I know and they live in my memory. Each year I wait for familiar ones that sweeten the air of the springtime and summer months. In my memory I still hear the mocking birds of the Southland, but now I have outside my window the charm and beauty of the songs of the robin and the thrush, memory sounds made new again.

Those of us who once knew life upon the farm have a whole cluster of memory sounds. The cackle of the hens, the grunts of the pigs, the baa, baa of the sheep, the moo, hoo of the cows, and the neighing of the horses in their stalls. Henry Is Energy Food

Mr. King also explained why bees swarm. He had on display a hive as well as articles of wax and several containers of honey, which as a pre-digested food, is a great source of energy, he explained. He also informed his audience that the venom of the bee sting is being used in the treatment of arthritis and other muscular diseases and it is being studied for the use of the prevention of cancer. One colony of bees will produce almost two hundred pounds of honey and in Adams county, there is an apriary where three carloads of honey was produced in one year.

Mr. King was presented to the club members by Mrs. Charles E. Tressler, chairman of the program committee. The program also included a selection, "Tree," by Miss Phyllis Higginbotham, on the electric vibraphone, with Mrs. Joan C. Wilt as piano accompanist. Assisting Mrs. Tressler on the program committee were Mrs. Robert L. Crouse, Sr., Mrs. Beavon Hanlon, Mrs. J. Richard Harner, Mrs. Garnet E. Schellhaase, Mrs. Donald C. Feeser and Mrs. Nettie George P. Smith.

Refreshments were served to the approximately 60 members in attendance by the hostess committee composed of Mrs. Anna B. Leach, chairman, Mrs. Leon H. Gage, Mrs. John W. LeGore, Mrs. John H. Fleming, Miss LeOra L. Held, Mrs. Chester S. Byers, Mrs. Carroll E. Arter, Mrs. Robert H. Miller and Mrs. George P. Smith.

The next meeting of the club will be held May 16, when "An Evening of Music" will be enjoyed with Mrs. William Wilt in charge. The program committee will also include Mrs. Maurice Rider, as co-chairman, Mrs. Karl P. Bankert, Miss Louise Dutera, Mrs. J. Ray Reindollar, Mrs. Joseph H. Redding, Mrs. Paul M. Emmitsburg*FFA STUDENTS
HOLD CONTEST

The Emmitsburg Future Farmers of America are hosts to all the FFA clubs of the Frederick county high schools at a poultry testing contest today at the local school in preparation for the state poultry testing contest which will be held in July.

The Emmitsburg Grange met Wednesday night at the Emmitsburg public school with over 50 members and guests present. Master Norman Shriner was in charge of the business meeting when it was decided to change the time of meeting to 8:30 p.m. beginning with the next regular meeting, May 2, and during daylight saving time. Prof. William Baker introduced the speaker, Stanley Stabler, agronomist of the University of Maryland extension service. Mr. Stabler talked on pasture management in which he emphasized the necessity of a full season program for pasture. He advocated supplementing the usual blue grass and timothy pasture with orchard grass and sudan grass for the hot mid-summer season when the pasture is often inadequate to meet ordinary grazing needs for cattle and dairy farmers. The speaker advocated the sowing of 300 to 500 pounds of lime and fertilizer per acre on pastures, annually on clover and every two years for blue grass. Dr. George Green will be the speaker for the May meeting.

There will be an extra rehearsal of the Chapel choir of Elias Evangelical Lutheran church tonight at 7 o'clock. This is in preparation for the special music for the observance of Music Sunday at the service at 10:30 a.m. on April 22.

A full dress rehearsal of the minstrel cast will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Lutheran parish hall in preparation for the presentation of the show to the public April 26 and 27.

Doug May Talk

MacArthur himself was expected to visit the editors this afternoon, after his address to Congress. But Young said ASNE's invitations to the general had brought no definite acceptance, and the editors did not expect a full-dress "speech."

Correspondent Beech reported from Tokyo in January that MacArthur wanted to pull his troops from Korea and carry the war to China by sea and air blockade. Both MacArthur's headquarters and Washington denied the story. Last week, after the general was fired by President Truman, Beech disclosed that his source was MacArthur's military secretary, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney. He will tell ASNE about it today.

The editors arranged to view the general's appearance at the capitol and the MacArthur ceremonies at Washington monument by television. Their luncheon speaker, President Truman, had canceled out, explaining that he felt this should be strictly MacArthur's day.

Young is opening the editors' meeting, advised them that the United Nations movement to draft a world freedom-of-the-press pact has been "stacked against genuine freedom of information" as it is known in this country.

DR. E. A. RUMELY IS CONVICTED

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The contempt of Congress conviction of Dr. Edward A. Rumely will be contested all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary, according to his attorney.

A federal court jury of eight men and four women deliberated only 20 minutes yesterday afternoon before reaching its verdict.

It found Dr. Rumely, 69, executive secretary of the Committee for Constitutional Government, wilfully refused to provide information demanded by the House lobby investigating committee last summer.

Dr. Rumely had conceded he refused to tell the committee the names of large-quantity purchasers of books from his organization. He contended a congressional committee had no power to inquire into publishing activities. Publishing, he said, was protected by the Bill of Rights.

Neil Burkinshaw, Dr. Rumely's attorney, said in his opening statement to the court that freedom of the press was the primary issue in the trial.

Dr. Rumely is due back in court April 27 to hear his sentence. The maximum penalty for contempt of Congress is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

State police of the Gettysburg station said Cohick was driving west and fell asleep. His car crossed to the left side of the highway, struck the bridge, rolled over the bank and plunged into the creek. He was brought to the Warner hospital. Damage to the automobile was estimated at $1,500.

Police said Cohick was alone in the automobile, which was practically demolished.

OFFER BUTTER BILL

Harrisburg, April 19 (AP) — The sale of artificially colored creamy butter would be outlawed in Pennsylvania under a bill before the House today. Persons adding coloring to butter to make it more yellow would be subject to a fine up to $100 or up to 30 days in jail. The bill was offered by Reps. Robert J. Clendenning and James N. Robertson, both Delaware county Republicans.

MacArthurs To Visit Murfreesboro

Washington, April 19 (AP) — Mrs. Douglas MacArthur has let her famous husband know they're going to visit her home in Murfreesboro, Tenn., a spokesman for the general said today.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's adviser, was asked at a news conference if the general and his family would visit Murfreesboro. Whitney smiled and said Mrs. MacArthur has informed the general that if she goes around visiting all these other places with the general, then he will have to go to Murfreesboro. But no date has been set for the trip to Mrs. MacArthur's home, Whitney added.

400 EDITORS IN CONFERENCE ON PRESS FREEDOM

Washington, April 19 (AP) — Four hundred editors met today to draw new battle lines in defense of freedom of the press against censorship and news suppression.

President Dwight Young cautioned the American Society of Newspaper Editors that an outcropping of "would-be dictators" in federal, state and local governments has become a home-front menace.

At the same time, a "very strong" resolution denouncing the closure of Argentina's great newspaper La Prensa was reported being written for consideration at the close of the ASNE's annual meeting on Saturday.

Even the hero of the hour, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, was to come under the editors' scrutiny. They have invited Keyes Beech, Chicago Daily News correspondent, to describe his publicized tiff with MacArthur's Tokyo's headquarters.

No, that's not what happened!

She was lucky. The car rolled 150 feet across the street and parked itself in the only available space, 20 feet from the intersection. It didn't touch the cars parked on either side.

The woman emerged from a store, spotted her car, evidently figured she had parked across the street, and drove away nonchalantly.

SOME VETS NEED TO ACT QUICKLY ON INSURANCE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 19 (AP)—Here are points for veterans of World Wars I and II to keep in mind about government insurance. And some of them had better act fast.

Last week Congress passed a bill making changes in what veterans could do about such insurance. Those changes go into effect as soon as President Truman signs this bill into law.

Must File Quickly

It's not certain he'll sign it. But he's expected to, no later than April 28. So if what is explained here affects you, it will be smart to assume the bill will become law and act quickly, before April 28.

In both world wars servicemen could, although they didn't have to, buy government insurance of two general kinds: term and permanent. Since they didn't have to buy it, many didn't.

But ever since they got out of service, because they were veterans, they have been free to buy it any time they wished to. And they still can do so, but only until the President signs the bill into law.

Thereafter, any veteran who never had bought any government insurance never will be able to buy any. If you've never bought any, but have been thinking of doing so, you can still buy it, provided—

You file with your nearest Veterans Administration offices an application for government insurance before the bill becomes law.

Can Reinstate Now

Many veterans bought the insurance while in service. But many dropped it after getting out. For instance, only about 4,000,000 veterans of World War II still have the insurance they bought in the service.

What about these veterans, the ones who once had the insurance but dropped it? Once the new law goes on the books, will they forever be unable to reinstate their old insurance?

No. Any veteran who ever had the insurance but dropped it can still reinstate it after the law goes into effect, provided—the policy he had was of the permanent kind, such as straight life or endowment.

To say it another way: If you ever had a permanent policy but dropped it, you can reinstate it any time you wish, even after the new law goes into effect. The new law won't change your right to do that.

Changes In New Law

But the new law will make a difference for a veteran who had the term insurance. And this is why:

Government term insurance runs for a certain period of years. Until now a veteran who has term in-

"Lucky 13" Nurses Have Disbanded

East-Central Front, Korea, April 19 (AP)—A former State Motor Vehicle agent who told police he gambled away $9,327 in state funds will be sentenced May 4 on an embezzlement charge. The sentencing date was set yesterday by Cape May county Judge Harry Tenbaum after the agent, Harry Keating, Jr., of Wildwood, entered a plea of no defense to the charge.

ly A. Price reported to stockholders at an annual meeting. He listed net sales for the quarter at a new high of $236,407,895. Sales for the same period in 1950 were $223,933,896, he noted.

Christopher Morley's home on Long Island is named "Green Escape."

DOUG RETURNS TO CAPITAL OF HIS COUNTRY

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The tall man in the trench coat paused on the top step of the ramp, paused for just an instant, as though he wanted to catch and keep this memory forever.

He looked a little tired.

The lines around his mouth were a little deeper than usual and his dark eyes were weary. He stood there, with one hand on the ramp, just looking.

Then he smiled.

He stepped aside and his wife hurried down the ramp ahead of him, a tiny, bird-like woman in a dress the color of claret. A surging roar welled up from the crowd. He hurried down the steps and onto the runway.

CROWD GATHERS EARLY

Gen. Douglas MacArthur was back in Washington, back in the city whence came the order which stripped him of all his commands.

It was 12:31 this morning.

For more than two hours before, people had been gathering. There were a little girl carrying a wooden stool, a burly teen-ager with a confederate flag, a man with a paper placard, "Welcome back, Doug."

A chill east wind was blowing, and a low-slung moon glowed above the tall field lights on the edges of the highway. They formed a great white pyramid of light, marking the spot where MacArthur's plane would be brought to a stop. Across the Potomac, the capitol dome, lighted, seemed to be floating in midair. The Washington Monument was a white needle gleaming in the moonlight.

MANY DIGNITARIES ARRIVE

The crowd kept coming. Police estimated the peak at 12,000.

Toward midnight, a rustle of interest swept the people when Rep. Joseph Martin (Mass.) arrived. Martin was the man who received and read in Congress a letter from MacArthur which set the storm blowing.

Soon afterward came Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley, former Secretary of War, Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, of Corregidor, Gen. Walter Kreuger, who was MacArthur's field commander through all the major Pacific campaigns in the Pacific war, and scores of other officers associated with MacArthur.

Secretary of Defense Marshall, and the joint chiefs of staff, Gen. Omar Bradley, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, and Admiral Forrest Sherman, did not appear until about 10 minutes before MacArthur's plane was sighted.

It was an hour earlier than the original schedule called for. And in fact, it was several minutes before MacArthur's pilot, Lt. Col. Anthony Terry, had estimated.

As a result, the plane almost "rolled" up to the disembarkation point before anyone realized that this was the ship.

When MacArthur reached the ground, a baby riot broke out. There was a sudden surge of people toward him, and the soldiers and officers seemed powerless to stop it.

People packed so closely around MacArthur that he could barely grasp the hands held out. He called to Col Story: "Tony, take care of Mrs. MacArthur." Story tried to shield her with his arms and shoulders.

By that time, bedlam had broken loose completely. MacArthur's friends formed a wedge in front of him and bulled slowly toward the black convertible awaiting him. MacArthur kept glancing toward his wife and Col. Story. People kept gripping his hand and catching his arms. They began to chant, "We want Mac... We want Mac."

Finally the party was in and the car inched through the crowd and then escaped.

BEVIN'S DEATH SEVERE BLOW TO SOCIALISM

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The death of Ernest Bevin, the British Labor leader who rose from dime-a-week farm hand to be foreign secretary, is a heavy blow to the ruling Socialist party headed by Prime Minister Attlee.

The two-fisted Bevin, who had been widely viewed as "a great man in any country in any century," was the most powerful force for moderation in the Socialist party. He stood sturdily against communism at a time when extreme left-wing members of his party were flirting with the specious promises of Moscow.

Bevin has been called "the first British statesman to have been born a working man and remained one." His power with the labor unions was almost fantastic, a fact which Winston Churchill recognized in forming his wartime coalition government. The prime minister made Bevin minister of labor and national service, with the task of mobilizing Britain's manpower.

When the Socialists came to power

BRIEF EFFECT
Actress Dorothy Hart models a $750 spring bathing suit made entirely of orchids. Fabricated by Society of American Florists, the suit lasted ten hours.

I stood 100 per cent with the United States in its anti-Communist position.

He was generally regarded as being closer to Attlee than any other political figure. These two, together with Herbert Morrison, who succeeded Bevin as foreign minister when the latter resigned because of ill health, were credited with having been responsible for holding the Socialist party to a relatively moderate political program.

This was a policy of horse-sense, because the Socialist government was on trial. It owed its election in part to the votes of Conservatives who decided to give socialism a chance to display its wares, including a program of nationalization.

Bevin played a major role in holding the left wing Socialists in hand at that critical time. It is natural that speculation should be rife in Britain now as to what effect his death may have on the political situation, especially in the next general election.

A threat of a swing to the left by the Socialist party might well result in a return of the country to Conservative government.

In any event, many observers hold that the Socialist government's position has been weakened. The death of this Labor statesman has removed a vital steady influence which may be expected to have its effect on the Conservative vote.

New York, April 19 (AP)—Senator James H. Duff (R-Pa.) asserted Tuesday the U. S. is "on a tremendous emotional binge" over General MacArthur's dismissal.

In the midst of all the argument, in Washington and elsewhere, concerning the MacArthur cause celebre, Duff counseled coolness and calm decisions. He advised Americans to concentrate, without partisan passion of any kind, on protecting the country against growing military might of the Soviet Union.

HOUSE PASSES REVIVED INCOME TAX MEASURE; FATE IN DOUBT

Harrisburg, April 19 (P)—Gov. Fine's proposal for one-half of one per cent personal income tax passed the House late yesterday, 109 to 97.

The administration victory contrasted sharply with the defeat of the $119,000,000 tax measure two weeks ago.

The tide was turned by seven House Republicans who retracted their "no" votes of April 4 and cast their lot with the administration. A single Democrat—Rep. Edward J. Conway, Philadelphia—also voted for the bill.

Rough Sailing Ahead

The bill, the keystone of Gov. Fine's $1,220,000,000 budget for the next two years, headed for rough sailing in the Senate. A bloc of GOP senators is already voicing opposition to Fine's proposal.

But Fine said confidently yesterday:

"I think it will pass the Senate without question."

Although the House approved the income tax bill, it returned to committee a companion measure to increase the four per cent corporate net income tax to five per cent.

Four Reversed Stand

Rep. Charles C. Smith, Republican floor leader, said the corporate net income levy boost, designed to raise another $44,000,000 in the next two years, will stay in the House ways and means committee until the Senate disposes of the personal income tax measure.

The Schuylkill county GOP delegation provided the impetus for reversal of the income tax bill last week and again for its passage yesterday.

Four of the five members of the delegation reversed their "no" votes of two weeks ago and then were joined by three other Republicans from smaller counties.

Rep. Ivan C. Watkins (R-Schuylkill) explained the reversal came after a decision that an income tax was preferable to a sales tax which he said would place "a heavier burden on the small income groups."

Watkins' speech during a heated 2½-hour debate was punctuated by an electrifying statement from Rep. Edward S. Swartz (R-Dauphin), one of the most outspoken Republican foes of the income levy.

"Inasmuch as he (Watkins) has seen fit to change his position, keep your eye on what happens from here on out to the Schuylkill delegation," said Swartz.

Watkins retorted that there was "no disgrace" in changing a vote "when you feel and know you are right."

It was Swartz who was cautioned by Speaker Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk) to temper his remarks after describing as "a contemptible lie" a statement by Fine that the administration was willing to accept an alternate tax proposal.

Swartz continued, however, to assail the Governor's tax program, declaring: "I will go from one end of Pennsylvania to the other even if I have to crawl on my hands and knees to talk against this contemptible piece of legislation."

The income tax debate was then taken up by the Democrats who renewed demands for public hearings.

Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democratic floor leader, said Fine campaigned last year on a platform that there wouldn't be a need for new taxes.

"During the campaign the very people now saying they need new taxes said then there was a $140,-000,000 cushion that could finance present expenses," said Andrews.

Teachers Not Unanimous

The Democratic floor leader also hinted that teachers, most of whom have been backing the bill with the hopes of obtaining $93,000,000 in salary boosts, couldn't expect more than the $46,000,000 listed in Fine's budget.

Rep. Harry E. Seyler (D-York), a school teacher who opposed the bill, said teachers "are by no means unanimous on this bill."

He emphasized to House members that teacher salary bills should not be considered "partisan legislation" despite support of the income tax measure by the Pennsylvania State Education association.

Three "On The Fence"

Republican House members who voted against the income tax were Reps. Swartz, John A. LaFore, Jr., Thomas H. W. Jones, William A. Bolton, Howard F. Boorse, and Raymond C. Kratz, all Montgomery county; Louis A. Bloom, Robert J. Clevenger, William C. Leonard and James N. Robertson, all Delaware county, and Gus Wachhaus (Schuylkill).

On the Senate side, the five Republican senators who have announced their opposition to the income tax include Sens. Edward J. Kessler (Lancaster), G. Robert Watkins (Delaware), C. Arthur Blass (Erie), Montgomery F. Crowe (Montgomery) and Henry J. Propert (Montgomery).

NEW DENIAL ON 28TH

Washington, April 19 (P)—There is no official basis for reports earlier this month that the 28th and 43rd National Guard Divisions will be sent to Europe, a Connecticut congressman says.

Rep. Moran, a Republican, said in a statement on Tuesday he has received assurance from Col. Samuel C. Mays, chief of the army's legislative liaison, that "there has been no official announcement to the effect that the 28th and 43rd Divisions would be shipped to Germany."

EMOTION MAY SHADE OPINIONS ON M'ARTHUR

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 19 (AP) — You probably have positive opinions on the Truman-MacArthur dispute. Everyone else seems to. But—are your opinions just emotional? For example:

You like Truman and dislike MacArthur from away back; or you dislike Truman or have lost confidence in him and have always admired MacArthur. Or did you reach your opinions calmly after squarely facing some of the basic questions involved in this dispute?

The first question, of course, is this: MacArthur expressed views on our foreign policy. They conflicted with the Truman foreign policy.

Disobeyed Orders

The President ordered him to keep quiet. MacArthur didn't. He was fired by the President who is commander-in-chief of the armed forces. Do you think the President was right in firing a general who refused to obey his orders?

Here's where the other questions come in, based on the Truman view and the MacArthur view on our foreign policy.

This is the President's position: Communism is a menace. The threat is greater from Russia in Europe than it is from China in Asia. Our strongest allies are in Europe. Unless we help them build their defenses, they may be over-run by Russia. If that happens, we'll be practically alone in a Communist world.

Danger of General War

Therefore, we must concentrate on building up Western Europe. But communism is also a threat in Asia. More than that: It's on the march in Asia.

The proof: The Chinese Communists got into the Korean war against this country and its United Nations allies. Unless blocked in Korea, the Chinese will be free to overrun all Asia. So they must be blocked.

But we're going to try to limit that blocking to Korea. If we spread the fighting—by bombing China's bases in Manchuria, which means attacking China itself instead of just the Chinese armies in Korea, or by using Chiang Kai-shek's troops to invade Asia—we end up in World War III.

No End In Sight

Why? We may have to pour far more men and supplies into Asia. And Russia may come in. If Russia moves in Asia to help its Chinese ally, it may move in Europe, too, long before this country and its allies are ready in Europe.

So we'll stick to fighting in Korea and hope to work out some kind of truce with the Chinese there, without letting the war spread.

So much for the Truman policy. But here's another side to that: At the rate the Truman policy is going in Korea, the end to the fighting there is not in sight. Worse, a huge Chinese offensive is expected soon. Even if that offensive is blocked, the fighting may go on for months or years.

This is where MacArthur's views come in:

Why let the Chinese pour men and supplies into Korea from their "privileged sanctuary" in Manchuria and leave Manchuria untouched? We should use all the strength we have to smash the Chinese.

MacArthur says the real war against communism is in Asia, not Europe.

Some Big Questions

Now come the questions: Would you go along with MacArthur and open an all-out war against the Chinese, even if it meant general war, with Russia moving in Asia and Europe, as the Trumanites fear it might?

Do you agree with MacArthur that the real war against communism must be fought in Asia, not Europe? Do you think it's better to risk general war in preference to the present Truman policy in Korea where the end to the fighting is not in sight?

If opening up against the Chinese means the Russians get in and overrun Europe, swallowing up all our allies, would you still say open up on the Chinese? Or would you rather dwindle along in Korea so the bulk of our help can go to Europe?

Do you go along with Mr. Truman in wanting to go slow in Asia, meanwhile building up Europe, in the hope that eventually a strong defense there may prevent a third world war?

MacArthur Firing

Moscow, April 19 (P) — Pravda has asserted that President MacArthur because the former Far East commander had been unable to accomplish the invasion of China.

The Communist party newspaper in the first Russian comment on MacArthur's dismissal — said the general had been given the job not only of taking all of Korea, but also of invading Manchuria to attack the Chinese People's Republic.

The U.S. President, Pravda said, was trying to shift to MacArthur the responsibility for American failures in Korea.

One guilty verdict was returned Tuesday in York court. That against William H. Julius, Dover R. 1, actually was on the charge of permitting an intoxicated person to Krall, East Berlin R. 2, was said to have been driving the Julius car when it struck an auto operated by Russell Sipe, East Berlin. Miss Krall was convicted of drunken driving but has appealed the verdict.

A.H.VANDEBERG, SENATOR FROM MICHIGAN, DIES

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 19 (AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, one of the United States' most respected statesmen, is dead at 67.

The Michigan Republican, a foreign policy expert whose advice and leadership were sought by the heads of both major parties, died last night in his sleep, after several years of illness. He had undergone several major operations in the last two years.

Vandenberg's death at his home here meant the loss of one of the founders of the United Nations and one of Congress' foremost advocates of a bi-partisan, unified foreign policy in the cold war with Russia.

Served 23 Years

It also undoubtedly meant a gain for the Democrats in the Senate. It falls to Michigan's democratic governor, G. Mennen Williams, to name a successor to Vandenberg, whose distinguished career spanned 23 years in Congress.

Williams reportedly has four possibilities in mind—Former U.S. Sen. Prentiss M. Brown, University of Michigan law professor; John Dowson, former Michigan Attorney General Stephen J. Roth, and Noel P. Fox, head of the Michigan Labor Relations board.

With Vandenberg's death the Democratic majority in the Senate became 49 to 46. The expected Democratic appointment will make it 50 to 46.

Funeral services for Sen. Vandenberg will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday. The place of burial has not been decided.

With the Senator's death was disclosed a story of his self-sacrifice in the nation's interests.

Heart Ailment For Years

Dr. A. B. Smith, who cared for Vandenberg during the long illness, said complications following the major surgery caused death.

But it was only after death that he had had a heart ailment for 25 years and that he postponed a necessary lung operation for nearly a year—from the fall of 1948 to October, 1949.

25% REDUCTIONS MISSES' • LADIES' and CHILDREN'S COATS & SUITS*TRUMAN WILL NAME NEW WSB

Washington, April 19 (P)—President Truman will set up — probably within the next few days — a new wage stabilization board having authority to handle emergency labor disputes during the defense program.

Announcing that intention at a news conference yesterday, Mr. Truman brushed aside the objections which management representatives have raised to the proposal, recommended by the newly-created 17-man mobilization advisory board.

When you get a three to one decision, Mr. Truman said, it's time to operate. That was a reference to the fact that the new wage board plan had been approved Tuesday by the 12 advisory board members representing labor, agriculture and the public. The four industry representatives dissented.

On the question of setting up a new wage board to replace the one which has been impotent since its labor members resigned in protest over a wage ceiling formula two months ago, there had been some legal doubt the President could act.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnson has said some government attorneys hold the Defense Production Act forbids giving a new board any power to handle disputes without agreement from both labor and management.

Leon B. Epler of Northumberland,

R. D. 1, in the board's annual meeting, Mark S. Hess of Lancaster, R. D. 6 was named secretary, succeeding J. Franklin Styler of Concordville, who resigned. Other top officers were re-elected.

Scranton Bills In Legislature Studied

Harrisburg, April 19 (P)—A House committee today studied a bill to permit Scranton to remain a second class city.

Introduced by Rep. Delbert W. Dalrymple (R-Erie), the measure is a counterpart of one submitted in the Senate two days ago by Sen. John H. McMenamin (D-Lackawanna).
